Rodent and Wildlife Control for 2016

September 29, 2015

General rodent control: With the very low level of rodent activity at Pelican Lakes Ranch this fall, I would not expect the area to need any general treatment in 2016.

Prairie dog control: There are currently 300 to 500 active prairie dog burrows in 3-4 colonies around Beebe Draw and this should not grow much over the winter. These should be fumigated in the spring of 2016, at a cost of $2000.00, or less.

Snake control: No expense is expected for 2016 though an unusual amount of rattlesnake activity can come randomly and unexpectedly. You might consider setting aside $2000.00 in contingent funds for snake control efforts.
